

130x

the legal limit for PCP
in the final sample.

WHAT IS PCP ?

Pentachlorophenol. It was once one of the most widely used biocides in the United States. It is now restricted and no longer available to the general public. Acute exposure affects the nervous system, blood, and liver. Chronic exposure adds the respiratory tract, kidneys, immune system, and skin. Studies associate it with cancer; animal studies show liver tumors. The EPA classifies it as a probable human carcinogen.

Then	Both monitoring wells were physically destroyed in December 2025, before the cleanup case was formally closed, with PCP levels rising in one well, recommending monitored natural attenuation.
Now	The case was closed recommending natural attenuation, but the monitoring wells are gone . A deed restriction is the only safeguard. The state appeal challenging that closure has no decision.
Proposed	600+ homes, a hotel, a spa, a preschool. The environmental review does not treat the 3.5x increase in density , the rising plume, or the destroyed wells as new information.
